

What's on and what's off

Walker Art Center has four 1930s Fred Astaire-Ginger Rogers dance films scheduled next month for a Saturday night series: "Flying Down to Rio" is set for Saturday, "Follow the Fleet" on March 10, "Swing Time" on March 17 and "Carefree" on March 24. The center is trying to get Miss Rogers here for a festivity involving the films . . . Minneapolis comics Pat Proft and Bo Kaprall do their schtick Friday night on "The Merv Griffin Show" over WTCN-TV . . . One of the Guthrie Theater's original actors, Robert Pastene, reportedly is not being asked back for next season . . . Garrison Keillor, KSJN-FM's prairie home companion, is taking a month's leave of absence to do some writing . . . United Artists is discussing plans to open several new movie screens in the Twin Cities area . . . Tony Steblay, drama director at Eisenhower High School in Hopkins, will be guest director at the June 18-July 28 University of Minnesota summer theater arts workshop for high school students . . . A Finnish "new wave" film, Risto Jarva's "A Worker's Diary," will be shown Friday and Saturday by the University Film Society. The other half of the double feature will be Albert Finney's "Gumshoe," a spoof on the Bogart hero.
