

'Night Out' in Hawaii

Garrison Keillor will spend a "Night Out" in Hawaii, moving from location to location while interviewing people and presenting a few musicians in performance. Locations and details of the broadcast are under wraps, but the program will reach the air waves from 8 to 9:30 p.m., following the regularly scheduled broadcast of "A Prairie Home Companion."

Hawaii Public Radio President Michael Titterton explains, "These experimental productions are an exercise in spontaneity and a good example of guerrilla broadcasting!"

Listeners will have to tune in to find out where Keillor has been.
