

TURLOCK'S 'WOBEGON' GUEST

National Public Radio commentator Garrison Keillor brought his dry humor, poetic sensibility and love of the Midwest to Turlock Community Theatre on Monday night for his show "An Evening With Garrison Keillor." He shared anecdotes on growing up in the Midwest, the people of fictional Lake Wobegon and becoming a father late in life. The 68-year-old is best known for his radio variety show "A Prairie Home Companion," which his Web site says has more than 4 million listeners.
