

Poetry show at Walker

Garrison Keillor, Greg Bitz and Robin Raygor, three Minnesota poets, will present a "Poetry Show" at 8 p.m. Friday in the Walker Art Center Auditorium, Minneapolis. An admission will be charged.

Keillor contributes to "The New Yorker" and has a morning program (soon to be known as "The Prairie Home Companion") on KSJN - FM and two other radio stations. His "1871-2" "will soon be published somewhere."

Young

German wines are "young" wines, usually drunk within a few years of their bottling. And, they're meant to be served chilled.

Bitz has published two books of poems, "Fifty-Five Leap Frogs" and "Parrot in the Wheat." A graduate of the Minneapolis College of Art and Design, he describes himself as "a former long-distance runner and a veteran of the U.S. Army in Vietnam."

Raygor is a fellow at the Center for Research in Human Learning at the University of Minnesota. He is also an auto mechanic and former ski racer. Among his hundreds of poems are "Monster," "Tuna Noodle Suite" and "Nobody Ever Outspit A Sherpa On His Own Ground Before." A book of his poems will soon appear somewhere, "perhaps by chance." Reservations may be made by calling Minneapolis 377-7500.
