

We wanted to say thanks so much, we asked Garrison Keillor to do it for us.

The Newspaper In Education (NIE) Department of The Inquirer would like to say thanks to the corporate sponsors who have helped in bringing newspapers to thousands of local school children who get to learn through reading.

And with the help of Electric Factory Concerts, we'd like to thank these sponsors and corporate program participants in a very special way.

On July 10, representatives of the companies listed below will attend an All-American picnic with Garrison Keillor just before Keillor's public concert at the Mann Music Center. Keillor is the former host of the incredibly-popular Prairie Home Companion radio show and author of best-selling books such as Lake Wobegon Days, Happy To Be Here and Leaving Home.

The NIE sponsors will meet Garrison Keillor, see a private performance by Robin and Linda Williams, receive autographed books and enjoy a wonderful picnic on the lawn of the Mann.

It's just one of the nice things we like to do for companies who get involved with the NIE program. If you want to know more about NIE or how your school or company can get involved, call 215-854-5537. We have more surprises in store.
