

Keillor, Atkins bring their show to Fox Theatre

American humorist Garrison Keillor and country artist Chet Atkins will bring "The Sweet Corn Show" to the Fox Theatre on Tuesday, July 17. Their special guest for the evening is the Hopeful Gospel Quartet with special appearances by Mavis and Marvin Smiley.

Garrison Keillor created and hosted the popular public radio program "Prairie Home Companion" for more than 13 years. Currently, he hosts the "American Radio Company Of The Air," also heard on public radio. As an author, Keillor has topped the Best-Seller charts with "Happy To Be Here," "Lake Wobegon Days," "Leaving Home" and "We Are Still Married." He is a talented and endearing story-teller, having won a Grammy for his recording of "Lake Wobegon Days" and two awards for cable excellence for the Disney Channel productions of "A Prairie Home Companion."

Chet Atkins was a popular and frequent guest with Keillor on "Prairie Home Companion." He has been called "the world's most famous guitarist" and has established himself as one of the all-time greatest innovators and influences in the history of the instrument.

Tickets for Garrison Keillor and Chet Atkins are $24.50 and $22.50. Tickets are available at the Fox Box Office and all Metro Tix locations, including 21 Schnucks Video Centers and 12 Famous-Barr stores. Tickets may be charged to VISA, MasterCard or Discover by calling Metro Tix at 314-534-1111.
