Tuesday letter to the editor responding to what she interpreted as a misleading article by Garrison Keillor suggests that she's just about ready to pen a companion book to his 1989 effort, "We Are Still Married." She wrote from N.Y., N.Y.: "A celebrity, like yourself, keeps building on the illusion that he

- is still married to the Dane he married some years ago. The truth is that the marriage ended two years ago when you moved in with another - woman. (Signed) Yours, ex-wife." A working title for Skaerved's book could be: "We Are NOT Still Married."
- On a recent trip to Barnes & Noble, Harvey Mackay's bestseller, "Swim with the Sharks," was observed floating in the direction of the $1 table. It was marked down to $4.98.
- "C.J., this is Carol and I'm glad
