

KEILLOR TAKING NAUGHTY BITS TO CHICAGO

Homespun Garrison Keillor takes his adult-themed material out of town, or so it would appear with news that the “A Prairie Home Companion” host will do a one-nighter in Chicago this year titled “An Evening of Ribaldry.” His exploration of blue humor will be part of the “Traffic” series at Chicago’s Steppenwolf Theatre on June 9. The theater said the show, which will include an informal talk with members of the ensemble company, is intended for “mature audiences,” meaning that those under “16 or 17” would not be admitted. For a good time with Mr. Bawdy, book now — tickets are moving fast.
