Keillor bringing folksy wisdom to Fort Worth

Garrison Keillor trades Lake Wobegon for Lake Worth when he comes to Cowtown's Bass Hall on Oct. 7 as part of the Star-Telegram author series. Keillor, best-known for his A Prairie Home Companion radio show, has a new novel, Pilgrims: A Wobegon Romance, that comes out Sept. 22. He will discuss the book, sign books, and have a Q&A session, but he will also "do his show," which includes stories from Lake Wobegon and audience sing-alongs. The evening will be hosted by former Star-Telegram books editor Jeff Guinn. Tickets are free but reservations must be made in advance. To order two tickets, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to Garrison Keillor in Fort Worth, c/o The Star-Telegram, Attn: Melinda Mason, Box 1870, Fort Worth, TX 76101. Book clubs, school classes, church groups and other organizations desiring more than two tickets should contact Melinda Mason at 817-390-7579.
