

Garrison Keillor fans have sometimes complained of the low level of publicity given his public appearances and radio tapings, and have been disappointed to learn, after the fact, of some marvelous happening he has concocted. Even without much publicity, Keillor has managed to attract packed houses by way of a grapevine of the Keillor faithful. Frequently the turnaway count matched the audience count.

This summer, however, the audiences at his live KSJN radio broadcasts have been far from capacity. So here's notice to Keillor fans who have been disappointed in the past: there are usually plenty of seats these summer Saturday afternoons when he broadcasts<sup>N</sup> from the Janet Wallace Fine Arts Center auditorium at Macalester College. About 100 of the dedicated have been showing up each week; the auditorium seats 400.

Will Jones continued on page 2B

Will Jones

Continued from page 1B

This week's outing is titled "The Annual Baseball Show," and the guests will include some baseball managers, an umpire, a fan, and a veteran beer vendor. There will be baseball songs by Vern Sutton, and baseball dances by Phillip Brunelle. The warmup show starts at 4 p.m., and the 90-minute broadcast begins at 4:30. Admission charge is $1.

Aquatennial Afterglow: A pair of 16-year-old Golden