Garrison Keillor to host show at UA

Pull up a cozy chair and gather the family around. Garrison Keillor is coming to town.

The folksy host will do a national broadcast of "A Prairie Home Companion" from the University of Arizona's Centennial Hall on Nov. 18. Keillor can be heard at 6 p.m. Saturdays on KUAT-FM (90.5) or 10 a.m.

Sundays on KUAT-AM (1550) /KUAZ (89.1).

If you've always wanted to do more than

Keillor

listen to him, such as be up there on stage with him, that's possible.

The show is looking for musicians and poets whose work is representative of Tucson. If that's you, send a biography and audio cassette, compact disc or video tape by Oct. 10 to: Talent Search, KUAT/KUAZ Radio, University of Arizona, Tucson 85721.

Some premium seats and tickets to the reception for the creator of "Lake Wobegon" are reserved for those who make pledges during KUAT's special pledge drive this weekend during breaks in Keillor's shows.

As of Oct. 10, tickets to "A Prairie Home Companion" in Tucson will be available at Dillard's (800-638-4253) and Centennial Hall (621-3341) box offices.
